

PETER DUNCAN

Died 2003

Peter was born in Scotland, served in the wartime Royal Navy and settled in Sydney, starting Scottish Country Dancing in the 1980's. He danced with the clubs on the Northern Beaches, particularly Harbord and Killara, and supported the Branch Classes over the years. He was always a willing helper at both Branch events and local classes. He was always available for demonstrations, and organised many entertainments at local nursing homes. Peter collapsed and died while participating in his other activity - tennis. He is sorely missed.

Remembered always by Harbord Scottish Country Dancers
